Biography:

The Kevin Seale Band began entertaining central Texas in 2005 as a group of guys wanting to share their music and entertain the people from their local area. Since then, the band has grown into a powerful group full of energy and diversity. Now with three albums under their belt and three singles that did well on the Texas charts, this band is determined to make a lasting impression.

In 2009 the Kevin Seale Band took a handful of original music and a dream into the studio. They released Ramblin In My Blood but never pushed a single off of that album. A local radio station DJ got wind of the album and in no time at all "PawPaw" was the most requested song on Brownwood's KOXE radio. Local DJ Barry Rose still says he can't believe that song was never officially released and to this day he still gets many requests for that song. A year later the band put out their second album, Tore Up In Texas, with 10 songs all written by Kevin. Their first single from that album spend nearly 20 weeks on the charts with the second climbing into the top 60. Their third album "6 Pack" recently released and the first single spent a solid 16 weeks climbing the charts. They released the second single "Home" in October 2011 and this ballad of the simple country life shows great promise. The music is from the heart and Kevin pens his songs from life; real experiences that real people face every day. This is the working man's music but the powerful lyrics delivered by Kevin and the drive of his talented band will speak to everyone.

The Kevin Seale Band's dream is to continue to deliver their music and to put on a high powered performance every time. Their dedication to their music, their fans and their families continue to drive this band down the road. If you are looking for a professional and dedicated band that will work hard to deliver a high energy show every time they take the stage then the Kevin Seale Band is for you!
